The Turpentine and the Nag. (A TURF REMINISCENCE.)

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY MONROE H. ROSENFELD.

It was the horse Bay Billy To win a race was due; In fact, he was a regular "cinch." The best you ever knew; So thought the talent far and near Who racing form pursue.

> At the track, There's no lack Soon of betters keen; On the slates And the gates Only Bay Bill's name is seen !

It was the trainer wily, Who an injection found To doctor up poor Billy, Who wasn't very sound; In any game of that sort "They think he'll never do the trick?" Said he: "The Public's blind."

The owner now called on particular friends The ones who usually go for such short ends— He whispered: "Put on all you've got, for Bill'll win Go pawn your diamonds, boys, and scoop in the tin worked a whole mile and that less than a minute. I tell you, those other plate pounders ain't in it; This tip, dear boys, you may surely rely on.
A cinch? I should say so! Why this is cast iron!
The odds from thirty down to ten Were put up, wiped, chalked up again; They played him one, two, three and pounded, While the bookmakers were surrounded !

Meanwhile Bay Billy, graceful, wiry, By his injection was made flery. He goes to the post like a two year old fine, His owner and friends smile a smile most divine.
"They're off!" is the cry, and Bay Billy is seen To lead all the others-a good ten lengths clean. The same at the quarter, the same at the half, His owner and friends all burst in a laugh.

"He wins in a gallop !" now up goes the shout; (But sad 'tis that turpentine often gives out !) Bay Billy stops suddenly, then dies away, While all his admirers are filled with dismay MORAL: Never bet on nags of "spirit," Filled with turpentine or gin; For a horse, like human beings, On mixed drinks can never win!

ACCIDENTALLY AVENGED. A RAILROAD REMINISCENCE.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY EMMA SANDERS,

The stillness of the waiting room was evidently be coming irksome to the old gentleman, for he twisted uirmed about in his seat, yet seemed unable to make himself comfortable; so at least thought the young fellow watching him, and he good naturedly concluded he would put him more at ease.

For some minutes he puzzled his brains as to how was to do so, then, seating himself beside the old man, he flatteringly said:

"The train seems to be late in starting; does it not,

The gentleman drew his great coat closer round him, leaned back in his seat, and then his keen gray eyes deliberately began to inspect every feature of the young man's pleasant and somewhat flushed face. An amused smile presently flickered round his mouth as he began to understand why the young stranger had spoken to him.
"Well, I don't know about that, young man; l only wish to heaven it wouldn't start; or at least, that I didn't have to journey on it," he finally re turned, earnestly, casting a dreaded glance out at the waiting train

His listener asked in surprise: "Why what's the matter? Are you afraid of acci-

"Accidents!" And the old gentleman laughed as friend, Harry Jerome never feared accidents when there was no sign of them.'

The young fellow hesitated as he realized that he was speaking to a stranger, and had no right to ask questions upon a subject that did not concern him. His companion, however, continued communiwould really like to know, my lad, why I dread this journey? Why I will not even sit in the train until absolutely necessary? Well, I'll tell you. It is because it all awakens an old and sad memory. A nice thing for a nan who believes him

He ended this information with a harsh, mocking laugh that fell unpleasantly upon the young man's

Mr. Jerome waited a few minutes, seeming to expect some comment to be made by his listener; but, receiving none, he continued:

"It is almost twenty-five years since last I traveled on this route, and I would never again do so were not compelled to; unfortunately, my sister died a few days ago, and my presence is neessary at her home

"In those days I was messenger for an expres company. My duties always placed me under great danger, for I carried large sums of money from one city to another. On the night that the facts I intend occurred, I was to take $10,000 from New ork to Washington "Having made all the preparations for my jour ney, I sat waiting for the train to start. I had an hour to wait and nothing to do; the newspapers contained nothing of interest to me, and the tur-moil about the train I had seen hundreds of times before. Besides it was twilight, and twilight, my lad, is the very dence of a time for making a young ellow who is in love think of his enchantress. I was not an exception. My thoughts drifted back to the day previous, when I visited her to say good by.

'I saw myself again standing in front of a certain little house, ringing the bell for admittance. Afterwards, every occurrence of that visit was thought of in the manner that all serious events in our lives are remembered. My heart beat rapidly as I heard the latch drawn back of the door that the next moment would expose her to my view. Imagine my disappointment when the door opened, to behold a short, thick set man, with immense broad shoulders, and the most brutal looking coun-

"Oh, be it you, Mr. Jerome?" said he, attempting to modify his harsh voice to gentleness.
"Yes," I answered, civily, although I felt that I should enjoy trampling upon his ugly visage. "Is advanced and looked at the silver plate. It bore the name: 'Joseph Horton,' and beneath it was in-scribed: 'Aged 30 years.'

The remains of Horton were stowed on that end of the car where the expressage for Washington was kept, so you can well believe that I took my place of watching as far to the other end as pos-sible when the train started.

"All through our journey, until near midnight, my eyes were drawn by an irresistible force to the other end of the car; then, being thoroughly circumsta

I was stricken dumb with anguish. No thought then of the part she had played toward me tortured my heart. I thought only of the miserable fact that I loved her and that I had Filled her.

"How long I crouched there I did not know; but I gradually felt myself falling and my brain seemed on fire; then I lost consciousness.

"When I regained my senses I was lying in a hospital, worn down to a mere skeleton in dealing for long weeks with a fever that threatened to cons me.

"When I had grown stronger I learned all the

"Oh, God!" meaned the young man, "there must be some terrible mistake. Pardon my question, sir, but will you tell me how how you came to possess

'Nance gave it to me herself." "Oh. It can't be! It can't be!"

"What's wrong?" again questioned Mr. Jerome, taking the locket from the young man's hand.

"This," be returned, pointing to the locket, "that is the portrait of my mother!"

"Impossible," cried Mr. Jerome, "Nance had no

"I tell you it is true," said the young man, by a great effort speaking caimly, "and another mistake I wish to rectify for you is, that my mother was no kin to the old scoundrel who pretended to be her father; but, when she was a child, she was taken from an orphan asylum and adopted by his wife. My mother grew to be a lovely woman, and her beauty and gentleness so captivated the fancy of my father, George Preston, a young bookkeeper, that he married her."

"For two years they lived happily together, but then he died. Having no means of support for her-self and me, she gladly accepted the offer from her foster parents that she should come and make her me with them again.

"She had been with them for about six months when the old woman died. Then it was that her, seoundrelly foster father first developed his evil manner of support; hitherto he had been a hard working and industrious man, but he suddenly con-cluded that my mother's beauty could be turned to credit. He explained to her how she could help him to net a fortune, by inducing men to fall in love with her, and thereby obtain information in regard to their business affairs so that they might rob them of whatever great values they possessed. Of course she refused to comply with his wishes. He said nothing, but several days later, I disappeared. My mother demanded and pleaded that I should be re-turned to her care. He only laughed at her. Then she threatened him with arrest. He swore then he would never yield to her, and that he would kill me unless she consented to help him. Finally she did

"All this was told to me ten years later by him at his deathbed, when he sent for me and the old woman in whose care he had put me; but he did not tell me of the tragic death that had been the outcome of her yielding. He arranged with the old woman that I was to remain in her care until I was able to help myself. His wishes have been carried out. Poor mother!"

The interest of both men had been so taken up in the relating of their sorrows that they had failed to perceive the bustle going on about them, that proclaimed the train was to start.

"God knows, my lad, I regret more than I can ever tell you what has happened;" tremulously said Mr. Jerome.

"I believe you; indeed I do believe you; and I

They shook hands.
The shout of "all aboard !" and the clang of the bell, startled Mr. Jerome into a reality of present

"Hurry! or we'll lose the train," he cried to his companion, as he jumped to his feet and dashed from the waiting room toward the train that had just begun to start.

One of his hands grasped the hand rail and he was about to place one foot on the platform of the car, when, turning his head to see if Freston was close, all in a moment a terrible accident had hap-pened. In turning his head he must have lost his footing for he fell forward between the two cars, 'thump, thump.

A cry of "Good God" fell from Preston's lips and witnessed the accident.

When they lifted ! im up, his body was a mangled, bloody mass, but his face was untouched except for one or two scratches and his heart beat faintly. one or two scratches and his heart beat fainty. They made him as comfortable as possible in the waiting room, and presently his eyes, that were no longer keen and bright, looked up into Preston's pale, anxious face and he smited ever so

"My lad," he faintly and brokenly whispered, "put the locket—on my heart—and see it is buried —with me—when I'm—gone:"

Preston clasped his hand closely in acknowledg-ment that he would, for he could not speak. The old man was silent for a few minutes with his eyes closed; then he again spoke, but with his eyes still closed, and fainter and weaker than before: "Her death is avenged now-and-on-the-

A shudder passed through him, and the hand that clasped Preston's relaxed its hold.

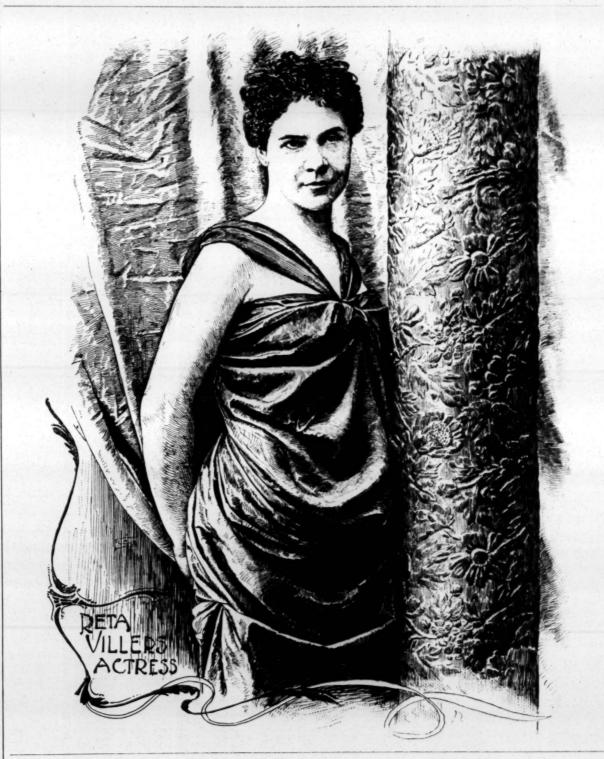

A last heavy sigh, and the life had passed from his painful body.

"Mother, mother! your death is indeed avenged -terribly avenged" cried Preston, as he bowed over the prostrate body and his hot tears fell upon the dead man's hands.

RETA VILLERS.

This promising young actress was graduated from a Kansas City, Mo., school of oratory in 1884, afterwards taking a private course from James E. Murdoch. Then, under the management of Robert Cleveland, she made a successful tour of the South and West, giving recitations. In 1887 she accepted an engagement as leading lady in a stock company at Music Hall, Kansas City. Her emotional powers were so marked that, acting upon the advice of Manager Hudson and friends, she came to New York in 1890, and was engaged as leading lady with the "Gulity Without Crime" Co., playing the part of an adventuress with great success. Last season, as leading lady with "One of the Bravest," her work re than satisfactory. Her past efforts show histrionic ability, a true conception diligent study and earnest perseverance.

"Shure she's always in to ye, Mr. Jerome," he tired, I determined to go to sleep. Accordingly, I how they had found me lying on the floor of the tractionally returned, leading me to a room, where placed the small iron safe containing the $10,000 car babbling of what happened. They had found graciously returned, leading me to a room, where he told me to wait while he went for Nance.

Nance, as fair and innocent looking as the white roses in her belt, soon appeared. It was almost impossible to believe that she and that ugly looking scoundrel were relatives, but nevertheless they were father and daughter.

I need not mention all that passed between u enough that it was tenderly cherished by me—but when I was about to leave she said: "Will you not be afraid to travel with so much

I had told her all about my business affair "Oh, no," I answered. "I have often had a larger amount in my care."

"Still, you will be subjected to great danger," she moaned, clasping her hands in fear.
"Nonsense!" I returned, confidently. "Nothing will happen to me." She was about to continue, but, recollecting something else which caused a spasm of pain to pass over her pallid face, she remained silent.

We parted then. Oh, my God! had she but died, how much more merciful it would have been than the circumstances under which I next met her.

The old gentleman paused a moment, for his voice was choked with emotion; when he had controlled his feelings he resumed:

"Well, lad, I had thought all over that visit, and had just looked at my watch to find out how much time it lacked before the train would start, when I noticed that a solemn silence had suddenly fallen upon every one. The cause was—the approach-ment of four men who carried—a coffin.

"A chill of dread and nervousness passed through me, for I knew I would have to spend the night all that the pistol I held dropped from my hand, and I placed the small iron safe containing the $10,000 close beside me, examined my pistol, and finally arranged a blanket on the floor and lay down.

"For five or ten minutes I remained perfectly still with my eyelids forcibly closed, but the rest that I sought refused to come. My attention was again drawn to the other end of the car. As my eyes rested on that long, dark object, I thought I saw the lid move: then, as I noticed the wind blowing in through the grated window and making the lights flicker, I convinced myself that that had caused me to fancy so. But still my eyes were riveted on it, and presently, very, very cautiously, the lid was raised several inches. All in a moment the terrible reality rushed in upon my brain. I was to be rob-bed of the $10,000 intrusted to my care!
"I was so enraged that, without thinking of the consequences, I instantly raised my pistol and fired. Not a sound followed to tell me whether my shot had killed or wounded anyone, but the coffin lid dropped suddenly.

"For a few minutes I stood still, undecided wha course to pursue; then I determined to walk boildy forward and investigate. I did so, pausing a ment, however, when I stood beside the coffin, steady my nerves and re-cock the trigger of my pistol.

"When I snatched the lid from the comn—merci ful God! shall I ever forget the awful sight that met ful God! shall I ever lorget the awful sight that met my eyes! There lay, not the scoundrel I had ex-pected to see, but a fair, lovely woman, and the one most beloved by me—Nance, Nance! "The bullet had crashed through her right eye into air holes cleverly made in the coffin, and two small bolts inside to keep the lid in place, also a vial containing chloroform, that had evidently been intended for me, and a pistol.

"Of course it was all a conspiracy to get the money I had in charge. I had been betrayed by a lovely and clever woman, who had used me as her informer. Nance had attempted the robbery her self, no doubt believing that were she foiled, my love for her would prevent me from hindering he

SAN S. SANFORD is heard from again. This time it is to tell that "the greatest engagement J. K. Emmet ever played prior to his debut in drama was at Fox's Theatre, Philadelphia, in the Summer of 1868." Of course it was under Mr. Sanford's management. Otherwise, he would probably have forgotten to tell us all about it. Mr. Sanford adds that it was he who first called Charles Gayler's attention to Mr. Emmet's probable value as a dramatic star. This is news. But it conflicts with Mr. Gayler's version of the affair. He and Mr. Sanford will have to fight it out among themselves.

Bablow Bros. MINSTRELS will inaugurate their sixth annual tour late in July. Many novel features will be introduced, and active preparations are now under way. The ensemble will be new and superb, and the specialties of the highest class. Everything in the way of printing, costumes and scenery will be on the most elaborate scale. Manager Joseph H. Arthur is determined that his troupe shall rank in the first class. Al. Dolson reported at headquartera last week, and left immediately for Chicago on business for the company.

THE WONDERIAND MUSEE AND TREATRE, Fall River, Mass., closed its season June 20. The house will be reopened under the same management about the middle of August.

Manager Pat Reilly is a busy man these days. Things are headed his way for 1891-2, if one may judge from the character of the engagements aiready effected by him. Among those with whom he has concluded negotiations are Pegg Pryde, Frazer and Allen, McRride and Walton, Jennie Joyce, Goidle and St. Clair, Fielding (juggler), Folly Cusick (her American reappearance) and others. Mr. Reilly has still to sign several big ones, among them two or three novelties. But the engagement that will most surprise vaudeville people is that of Louis Robie as business manager of this company. Mr. Robie has been so many years at Miner's Eighth Avenue Theatre, this city, that his friends had begun to look upon him as a fixture there. A big salary and an interest in the profits secured him for Mr. Reilly. The company will play a spectacular farce comedy, in which fifteen pretty and shapely girls, mostly English, will appear. Brilliant new scenery will be painted by the versatile Reilly himself, and the show is expected to create a sensation among the ventures for 1891-2.

M. A. CONNOLLY has assumed the management of the McCabe-Young Minstrels. D. W. McCabe has just finished a new comical act, entitled "The Conjunton Shop at Blacktown."

Lettie Burns, of Wright and Burns, is very ill at her home, Scranton, Pa. Her husband and partner, John B. Wright, is at present working with Frankle Kershaw, of the Kershaw Sisters. The report last week that Miss Burns had been married to John S. Smith was erroneous, unless there is another Lottie Burns in the profession.

C. J. Wilcox, late of the Pleasant Street Musee and Theatre, Fall River, Mass., makes this reply to the statement published last week: "It was three years ago that the owners of the Pleasant Street Musee and Theatre sought me to locate and start a place of the kind. During all this time I never received one cent for my services. It was not until I had located at Fall River, and had opened there one week, that they opened their hearrs to pay me for one week, and then I never received full salary. They wanted all my correspondence to take to Boston, and then they exposed the same to outside parties, asking questions about each and every one's ability. They objected from the start to the use of a private office, and muddled over the correspondence and books until I did not know where I stood. It was this kind of 'monkeying' that got me ratiled about the dates, and it was this that caused me to have such a misunderstanding with some of the performers. I wanted, after the first week, to close, but could not come to any agreement with them. I conducted the house under the most unfavorable circumstances, and finally quit without much eerenony. As regarding my treatment of the profession, I refer to any and all who played the house while I was there. I have in my possession many letters (since your issue) supporting my reputation. Your informant was a press agent of that house, who owes his position there to me, and if he will kindly make further reports as he knows them to be true, without her for the me, and if he will kindly make further reports as he knows them to be true, without here

THE MILDRED NOVELTY Co. is nearly completed.

THE MILDRED NOVELTY CO. Is nearly completed. The latest engagements are the Three Zamoras, Mexican family of aerialists; Prince Kanzo, Gracie Cummings and Prof. Albert Is imball. Their paper is rapidly nearing completion, and it will be as fine as any on the road. They have five big special stands, all lithographic paper, and, by using them together, form a mammoth stand of one hundred and sixteen sheets. They also have fifteen different styles of lithos and a number of novel ideas for advertising, which will be very effective. Harry Rouelere and Mildred are summering at Bay Ridge, Md., enjoying the fishing and bathing.

fective. Harry Rouclere and Mildred are summering at Bay Ridge, Md., enjoying the fishing and bathing.

JUDGING from all accounts, J. H. Smith, proprietor and manager of the Henry Buriesque Co., is going to have a winner the coming season. The costumers are now at work on the wardrobe, which, it is claimed, will be as fine as any ever seen with a similar organization. The old time ministrel first part will be conspicuous by its absence, while beautifully dressed turns by ladles will be strongly featured. The buriesque will be presented with special scenery and stage drapings, and will be of a high order musically. The following are aiready under contract for next season: Bob Layton and Kittle Clark, noted and popular English buriesquers; Mile. Texarkansas, the dancer: Geo. H. Wood, Conroy and Mack, Mile. Lola Beger, Leona Amrose, saily Watson, Addie Folsom, Bertha Hunter, Louise Bliss, Marjori Maxwell. Dot Davenport and Max Sturm, musical director. Manager Smith is also negotiating with a couple of big European cards, which will probably be settled this week. With the high reputation aiready enjoyed by the Henry Co., and the strong line of attractions to be presented, the coming season should prove a big winner. The season is booked solid in the best houses, the inaugural being at the London, this city, Ang. 22, when that house commences its regular season.

BROWN AND HARRISON will Summer at Providence, R. L.

EDWARDS AND BROWN open their season at the Sans Souci Garden, Providence, R. L., July 20, in "Muldoon's Pienic." The company will include Guyer and Goodwin, Lowry and Evans, Petsching Bros., Brown and Harrison, George Slackey and Little Gertle Snow.

The Higgins Bros. have signed with Lucier's Consolidated Minstrels for next season.

FRANK LA ROSA, aerialist, is doing well at the Sea Beach Raisec, Coney Island. His new French ring act is recognized as one of the chief attractions.

The specialty company that was to have been headed by James Corbett, the pugilist, and was going out under the direction of Chas. Stantill and E. M. Kayne, will not travel, after all. Manager Kayne had arranged a fine route, and Mr. Stansill had made very generous preparations; but at the very latest moment Corbett announced his intention not to travel, and of necessity the project has been abandoned. Mr. Kayne remains for the present at his home at Brooklyn, N. Y., though it is not likely that he will be long disengaged. His capabilities are surely well enough known to secure him a remunerative engagement. Corbett's action is severely censured by those who are acquainted with the details.

George Murphy is filling a six weeks' engagement at Seattle, Wash. He has recently secured a half interest in the Reta Gough Euriesque Co., and, if the desired bookings can be secured, he will go out with the company as one of the principal performers. Mr. Murphy is also considering several good offers to return East, and it is very likely that he will be on this side of the Missisappi ere the leaves fail. He has not signed with Hi Henry's Ministrels, the note to the contrary last week referring to another George Murphy.

OUDA, a widely known gymnast, arrived from Europe June 21. He has just finished a very successful tour of the principal cities in France and Spain, and comes to this country to join W. S. Cleveland's Ministrels for the coming season.

Lace curtains hang from the windows, while the doors are hidden with heavy portieres of dark blue. From the mantel hangs a pale blue buff colored paper, figured in gold, while on the floor is a handsome velvet carpet of bright red back, ground. Lace curtains hang from the windows, while the doors are hidden with heavy portieres of dark blue. From the mantel hangs a pale blue velvet tambrequin, beautifully caught up with slik corded tassels. The furniture consists of a large, handsomely carved and highly polished square centre table of antique oak, a burfet of the same wood and in keeping with the table, with a large French plate glass, a magnificent folding bed, leather covered chairs, a large rolling top desk, all of antique oak, caspidors, etc. Over the mantle is a solid rosewood mantle mirror, with beautiful brie a brac. In the bedroom are a full sized bed, washstand and bureau of antique oak. In a good sized room to the rear are a gas stove and refrigerator, which, by the way, is well stocked with winds of the choicest brands. To the left are the bathroom and tollet. Miaco & Morris think they have a pretty comfortable place in their new quarters, and when in the city can generally be found there. Across the front of the building will be a sign, upon which will be painted the names of their attractions, together with the theatre, where they can be seen. It is in full view of people on the L cars, being on a direct line with the windows. The place promises to become popular will probably take place Thursday night, June 26, for which invitations will be sent out. To keep the place quiet, Miaco & Morris think of issuing pass books to those they are desirous of having visit them. Souvenirs will be given out on the opening night. The managers have been quite busy of late engaging people for their two companies, and have engaged some very clever people. Agnes Evans, of course, will lead the Howard Show. UPPER BROADWAY, this city, was treated to something of a sensation on Thursday afternoon, June 18. Under an awning, gay with the national colors and in front of a well known tobacco store, Grace Stanton and Julia Shandley, the popular and charming buriesquers, stood for an hour or more distributing to passing pedestrians plug samples of the comforting weed. The lades were acting in the interest of a prominent tobacco mannfacturer, and were richly paid for their work, besides winning a large wager for their unusual hardihood. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Nobles returned to their home at Brooklyn, June 10, after a very pleasant visit to the home of Mrs. Nobles' parents at Leb-anon, O.

— W. Foy Kohmann is at his home, Rochester, N. Y., for the Summer. Next season he will go with Hunt's New York Theatre Co.

— The gossip that has been doating around for some time about an engagement of Henry E. Dixey by Rudolph Aronson, or by John Stetson, or by almost anybody else, was stopped June 22 by the authoritative announcement that he had been engaged for next season by Charles Frohman. The contract, which was signed 22, secures Mr. Dixey's services from Aug. 25 to May 1. His first appearance under Mr. Frohman's management will be in "The Solicitor" at Herrmann's Theatre, this city, early in September. By the terms of the contract he is to receive a fixed salary and also a percentage of the receipts. Mrs. Louise Thorndyke Bouckcault will play the leading woman's part in the piece. Another play has been secured by the manager and accepted by the actor, to be used in case a successor to "The Solicitor" sould be needed. It is the intention, if "The Solicitor" succeeds, to give it a long run and to give an extrs matinee about once a month, when a special programme will be presented. The part which Mr. Dixey is to act is wholly different from those in which he is most familiar, even as the play is wholly different from the common so called burlesque. This will be Mr. Dixey's first appearance in any piece of this sort since he played in "Confusion," under the management of John Stetson.

— Joseph S. Haworth has secured for his use next season Anna Katherine Green's dramatization of her famous story, "The Leavenworth Case." The authoress will superintend the rehearsals, and the play will be produced in conjunction with "St. Marc."

— An explosion of gas took place night of June 21, in the Munich, Bav., Theatre. Three men were severely injured by the explosion. One of the injured men cannot survive. Immediately after the explosion the theatre was discovered to be on fire, and before the flames were extinguished the building was badly damaged.

— J. A. Safford, professionally known as Jack Arthur, was arrested in this city June 22, charged with stealing $900 from his late employer, P. R. Smith, a picture frame dealer of Columbus. He will be taken to Ohlo for trial.

— Stockton, Cal., is to have a handsome new theatre, to be built before the coming Winter by a wealthy corporation. The capital stock of $300,000 is held by local capitalists, and plans are to be called for immediately. The theatre will front on San Joaquin Street, directly opposite the new grantle court house. On the street frontage and occupying the full length of 150ft, will be erected a four story brick building. It will run back soft, from the street, leaving in its rear a space of 70x150ft, as a site for the theatre building. The latter structure will be about a 5ft, wide and 120ft, long, and will be about a 5ft, wide and 120ft, long, and will be about as high as three stories of the structure in front of it. The front of the building will be divided into stores and offices. There will be two entrances and four exits. The theatre will be on the ground door, and will back they gold persons.

— Charles Overton has cabled Abbott & Teal to send him a marked manuscript of "Niobe," as presented in this country. The English production is to be controlled by Willie Edonin, and will be identical in stage setting and business with that presented in America under the direction of Ben Teal. This is something unusual, as the American producers have, up to the present time, been considered not quite good enough for the average English producer. It was not until after the tremendous success of "Niobe" in America that an English manager rould be found to undertake this production.

- John Hazelrigg will-play the leading part in Irene Kent's support.

- Wailer E. Herring, the Philadelphia theatre ticket printer, sailed June 18 for Europe. He will spend must of the Summer at Paris, returning to London and the Summer at Paris, returning to London the Summer at Paris, returning the week, and no wonder, for it is, beyond question, a rarely clever conceit in its assimilation of ancient and modern life and thought. The dislogue is crisp and sparkles with pure wit throughout, and the situations are intensely comic. As for the acting, naught but words of praise can be spoken of Abbott & Teal's excellent company, and especially do Carrie Turner, in the title role, and W. F. Owen, as the insurance agent, come in for emphatic commendation. In fact, the entire cast could not be improved on. "Niobe" will run the Summer through, and will withdraw when the fifty-first regular season opens, Aug. 17, with Roland Reed's sixth annual engagement here.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Alexander Salvini has demonstrated beyond a doubt that he is today one of the ablest and most versatile members of the dramatic profession I predicted in my last letter that his present engagement at Proctor & Mansfeld's house would far outstrip the success he achieved there last year, and the result thus far has proven the truth of my statement. On Wednesday evening, 17, he appeared for the first time as Edmond Dantes in "Monte Cristo," and the performance was indeed a revelation. I have seen the character impersonated many times, but never—not excepting my heretofore ideal, Fechter—have more fire and virility, combined with true art, been infused into the character. In the opening scenes of the play, as the young, toving, trusting sailor he is especially good, and later on, when he assumes the position of the Count, his impersonation is simply faulties. The staging of the play is most creditable to Resident Manager Geo. E. Mansfield, who has spared no expense in providing the most effective and elaborate setting and stage adjuncts. A season of German opera was inaugurated March 2, with "The Merry Wives of Windsor," Mrs. Lichtmay as Mrs. Fleeth. "Lohengrin" was given April 12, for the first time in America.

Carl Rosa and A. Neuendorff reopened this house Sept. 18 with German opera and the American debut of Europe's greatest tenor, Theo. Wachtel, in his unrivalled role of "The Postilion of Lonjumean." The prices of admission were, according to location: $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1, 75c. and 50c. Wachtel was regarded in three parts: First, as the possessor of a phenomenal voice, an organ of the rarest beauty, strength and compass; second, as a singer whose method charmed the ear and heart; third, as an actor whose ability would have secured to him stellar honors on the dramatic stage. The night of his debut the house was crowded as it never was before by an andicect that nearly burst night of his debut the house was crowded as it never was before by an audience that nearly burst out the walls of the theatre. Their demonstration verged on the poetic. His voice possessed a great deal of resonant and carrying power. It approached in quality and general character a full, rich and flexible contraito, except when forced to its greatest power, when it assumed more of the robusto quality. It possessed, I may say, the good points of several species of voice, having the flexibility of a tenor di grazia, the purity of a contraito and the vibratory power of a tenor robusto united, and forming a new and distinct species of tenor.

"Marschner's Templar" and "The Jewess" were produced Jan. 29, 1872, with Mme. Fabbri-Mulder as Rebecca, Mr. Bernbard as Ivanhoe, Karl Formes as Friar Tuck, Habelman as Wamba. Miss Rosetti and Mr. Mueller, baritone, were also in the cast. W. H. Martin bought this house Aug. 21, 1872. for $122,000. "The Secrets of New York, or the Jesuits of America," a new German play, was advertised to be performed (Sunday evening) Jan. 19, 1873, but the performance was stopped by the police.

advertised to be performed (Sunday evening) Jan. 19, 1873, but the performance was stopped by the police.

Mile. Ilma di Murska commenced a series of German operatic performances May 7, 1874, as Isabelia in "Robert the Devili". Lina Meyr commenced Feb. 6, 1875, in the opera "Der Freischutz."

Probably Marie Gelstinger was one of the most popular German setresses that ever appeared in this country. Her debut was at the Thaila Theatre, Jan. 5, 1881, in "The Grand Duchess," and as Mme. Favart she appeared 10, 11, 12. Her debut was a thorough success. Although the German stage in this country has been rich in popular soubrettes, such as, for Instance, Mme. L'Arronge, of the old Stadt, and, more lately, Fraulein Hevnold, Mathilde Cotrelly and Fraulein Januschowsky, Geistinger was superior to all, and her fame as a soubrette had long been established throughout Germany and Austria. She did for Germany what Schneider did for the bourfe stage in France. In November, 1888, this great actress was reported as dying at Klagenfort, Switzerland, where she went to be treated for a cancer of the eyelid. The growth wis successfully removed by an eminent surgeon from Zurich, but the operation left her in a weakened condition. She had been off the stage for several years, having retired in 1884. She played "Camitle" and "Boccaccio" with equal charm, and her intellectual power triumphed over the aged body, and illuminated the strong but age worn face. She had a career of over thirty years on the stage, and, when she retired, purchased a magnificent estate in South Germany. Here the householding fervor, common to her race, awoke in her, and she devoted herself to raising vegetables—especially cabbages. Fancy those perennially brilliant eyes concentrated on a cabbage field, and used only to spy out the dreaded moth! Or imagine that flexible and penetrating voice, capable of thrilling one like the blast of a trumpet, saying: "Hans, have you watered the cabbages this morning!"

of thrilling one like the blast of a trumpet, saying: "Hans, have you watered the cabbages this morning?"
P. S. Gilmore, with his Twenty-Second Regiment Band, first appeared at this theatre at a concert Sunday evening, 7, assisted by Lina Mayr, prima donna; M. Arbuckle, cornetist; E. A. Lefebre, saxophone solosist and others.

The Grau and Chizzola French Opera Bouffe Co. opened Oct. 15, 1875, in "La Fille de Madame Angot." Mme. Geoffrey appeared 22, it being her first and only appearance as Girofie and Girofia. The United North German Military Band from Europe made their first appearance Nov. 14 and repeated the concert 21. They were under the management of H. Grau.

This theatre was opened Nov. 22, 1875, by B. F. Dugan. William H. Whalley, J. B. Studley, Rachel Denvil, George C. Davenport and Belle Wallace were in the company. The opening bill was "The Robbers" and "Black Eyed Susan. German performances were shortly after resumed and continued for some time.

The Pappenheim German Opera Company, under were shortly after resumed and continued for some time.

The Pappenheim German Opera Company, under the conductorship of Carl Bergman, appeared in "Fanst," with Engene Pappenheim as Margaretha, and Clara Perl as Siebel.

For one night only—Feb. 22, 1878—the Pappenheim-Adams Opera Co. appeared in "Lohengrin." Robert W. But er leased the house July 4. 1878, and opened with a specialty performance, but he continued a short time, as business was bad. He reopened the house for the regular season, Aug. 19, with a dramatic company, in conjunction with a specialty troupe. Charles L. Farwell was stage manager. John Thompson opened in "On Hand," Sept. 2, followed with "Moses Abraham, the Old Clothes Dealer." 9, Thompson as the star. This house was christened

Oh, man in the moon, with face so fair,
Do you ever change your tune?
Or wrinkle your face with weary care?
Or fret, or scoid, or fame?
I often think, when I look at your face,

How thoughtless you must be; You must, I think, have a wonderful grace, So brigh:ly to smile on the sea. For think of the stately ships that sink,

For think of the stately ships that sink,
And still you smile the same
Oh, moon, why will you look and blink?
(But never an answer came.)
Oh, beautiful moon! you cheer many a heart
And never to pout are seen.
Oh, would that we all could fulfill our part,
So patient, so bright, so serene.

— An open air performance (the first in this vi-cinity) of "As You Like It" was given Tuesday af-ternoon, June 16, in the grounds, at Hoboken, N. J., of Mrs. E. A. Stevens, for the benefit of St. Michael's Home and St. Catharine's Home. At far as these institutions were concerned, the affair was a suc-cess. The seats were filled, though many who institutions were concerned, the aniar was a success. The seats were filled, though many who would otherwise have attended were kept away by the strong attractions of the day elsewhere, and the proceeds were some $5,000 or $6,000. The cast was as follows: Orlando, Maurice Barrymore; Jacques, Frank Mayo; Banished Duke, D. H. Harkins; Duke Frederick, Frazer Coulter: Touchstone, Frederick Bond; Oliver, John T. Sullivan; Adam, C. W. Couldock; Corin, Frank Drew; William, Charles L. Harris; Le Beau, Sidney Drew; Sylvius, Charles Dickinson: Amiens, Mervyn Dallas; Charles, the Wrestler, William Muldoon; Jacque De Bois, Sidney Booth; First Lord, J. P. Clark; Rosailnd, Rose Coghlan; Audrey, Mrs. Agnes Booth; Cella, Viola Allen; Phœbe, Malda Craigen; Pages, Bljou Fernandez, Neille Lingard. The stage was directed by William Seymour, who also had charge of the similar performance at Manchester by the Sea. Edward Seidle was the assistant property master, whoos arrangements with his chief—Mother Nature—went for so little, and Wool D. Marks had charge of the vocal music. At the opening of the second act, a thunder shower came on, and the audience dispersed. The actors hurried through the play as speedily as possible.

John D. Davis, of Davis & Co., the Cincinnati, O., agents, adds an interesting chapter to our story of the early career of the late J. K. Emmet. "Mr. Emmet's death," writes Mr. Davis, "will be regretted by many of his old friends in Cincinnati, as this was his starting place in life. I claim the honor of being the first person to put him on the stage in a regular engagement. It was during the war that Eaher Bros. & Peterson were running a Palace Variety on Vine Street, this city. The comic singer of that day, in that line of business, was a man by the name of Bhuel, now dead and gone. Peterson came into my office one day, and wanted a comic singer to take his place. I had received several letters from a man by the name of 'Joe Ganfrau' (Mr. Emmet), from St. Louis. He was then singing in a variety theatre there, but had no regular engagement. He wrote me that if he could get a position for $10 per week he would be glad to accept it. I mentioned the matter to Peterson, and he instructed me to send for him. He arrived and opened up on a Monday night, but Bluel, being such a favorite, easily induced his followers to hiss Ganfrau' off the stage. The next day Esher Bros. reduced 'Ganfrau's salary $2 per week. I had to reduce my fee accordingly, so that he could get a start, with an engagement of two weeks. I commenced writing to the different varieties in the country, among them Nashville. The first answer I received was from 'Joslin' Davis' father, who was running a variety there, asking for a two weeks' date for 'Ganfrau' at $25 per week—that was what I considered he was worth to any variety. When I notified Esher Bros. that he had to go at the end of two weeks, they were very mad, for he had already become a great favorite. His song, 'Gone to Fight Mid Sigel,' had captured the people, and of course Esher Bros. wanted to keep him; but he did not feel very kindly towards them, so he went to Nashville, and, instead of staying two weeks, he staid six. I sent him from there to Fox, of Philadelpha, at $40 per w

NEW YORK CITY.

Review of Last Week .- The the atres of the metropolis shared in the variations of last week's weather, which was anything but con-ducive to playgoing. There was no novelty of a dramatic character at any of the houses.....At the STANDARD, the daring venture of Sam T. Jack, in putting his Creole Buriesque Co, on a Broadway stage, was rewarded during its first week by a stage, was rewarded during its first week by a series of large and well pleased audiences. There had been predictions that Mr. Jack would regret his rashness. On the contrary, he has already triumphed over the doubting ones.....Two benefits of note were held. At the Windsor night of June 16, Messrs. Myers and Shelley, of the box office, took their annual testimonial, and at the Union Square night of 20 Robert A. Duncan and Lee W. Townsend received their friends, offering a big bill to a cordial house......Ninlo's came out of its darkness several nights at the close of the week, for a series of exhibitions between Boxers Slavin and Mitchell......

MARC KLAW, of Klaw & Erlanger, has thus outlined the purposes of an organization in which a great many persons will take an interest: "The recent verdicts obtained in theatrical cases in which uncorroborated evidence has prevailed against numerous reputable witnesses have inspired a number of managers and actors to lay the foundation for a Managers and Actors' League. Neil Burgess, C. B. Jefferson, John H. Russell, David Towers, T. B. Macdonough, Harry C. Kennedy, Fred Berger, A. N. Rarney, E. B. Ludlow, Oilver Byron, E. B. Jack, Roland Reed, Edwin H. Price and about a dozen more have aiready signified their do p sympathy with the idea. The object of the organization will be to protect, as far as possible, both actor and manager from the hardships, inconvent nees and endless costs of protracted litigation. From our experience it would seem that theatrical people have little or no standing in court, and juries, not understanding the technical requirements of our business, are easily beforged by lawyers. The members of this organization propose having in their contracts a uniform clause by which actors and managers bind themselves, if any differences arise out of the contract, to submit those differences to a hoard of Arbitration, which will be composed about as follows: The actor and manager each to select a representative, who must be a theatrical man; the two thus chosen to select a third man; these three to hear (under oath) the dispute, and to decide it. The members of the organization will bind themselves to have no business relations whatsoever with any manager, actor or "etress who falis to submit to this agreement a test singing. The advantages claimed for this airangenent are many. It will do away with time and money spent in litigation; will insure a hearing before a tribunal whose members understand theatrical technicalities, and save the parties in dispute the confusion and embarrassment incident to cross examination by attorneys who do not confine themselves to the subject in dispute. Some eminent l MARC KLAW, of Klaw & Erlanger, has thus out-

RICHARD MANNFIELD continues in "Don Juan" at the Garden Theatre. The houses are of fair size. This trouble between Victor S. Fletcher, the violin dealer, and Nahan Franko, the violinist, was again brought before the public June 17, by the arrest of Mr. Fletcher, on an order from Judge Andrews, of the Supreme Court, in Mr. Franko's snit to recover $10,000 for malicious prosecution. Mr. Franko was arrested for criminal libel, at the instance of Mr. Fletcher, in October, 1890. Mr. Franko was indicted at the time, but the indictment was dismissed subsequently. Mr. Fletcher furnished $1,000 bail.

The Sheriff received an execution June 16, for $400 against Rose Eytinge, residing at No. 25 West Thirtieth Street, in favor of the executors of the estate of Timothy Townsend.

HARRY STEWART, manager of Poole's Myrlorama, London, Eng., was a pleasant caller June 18, accompanied by his two sons. Mr. Stewart arrived in New York 13, after an absence of fourteen years, which time he had spent in England, where he made a name for himself with his changes, and established a fayorable reputation. Mr. Stewart will be remembered by older theatregoers through his connection with Wood's Museum and the old Broadway Theatre, under the management of Augustin Daly. He will return to England shortly, where he expects to remain for many years.

Mrs. Lessile Cantra and Manager David elasco returned from Europe June 18, after a nine weeks' visit to London and Paris. Mr. Belasco said he had arranged to produce "Miss Heliyett," Audran's comedy with music, for Charles Frohman next Winter. He said he would also stage "Jane," and had secured several foreign plays which he would adapt for this country. He is also to write an original play, in collaboration with a new ilterary partner.

"Citre" McDonald, a chorus girl in "The Tar and the Tartar" Co., at Palmer's Theatre, fell down a flight of winding steps at that house June 21, and was bady injured. She was removed to her home. Her ankle was sprained, and it is believed she is hurt internally.

The Actors' Order of Priendship, Edwin Forrest Lodge, No. 2, installed its recently elected officers on Sunday June 21, at its headquarters in the Broadway Theatre Building. The exercises were quite interesting.

Kosyrk & Blal's.—Torrid temperature has no material effect on the size of the audiences at this popular resort. In fact, it is rather the other way. The warmer the weather the greater is the attendance. Carmencita, the sinuous, atill divides honors with Peggy Pryde, the vivacious. Both are excelent entertainers, and each has a large and loyal following. Miss Pryde's repertory has been enriched of late by the addition of several new songs, topical to this town. Millie Price-Dow remains a sterling favorite. She is applianded to the echo nightly for her splendid dancing and remarkably high kicking. The new specialists for this week include the Braatz Bros., acrobats and balancers of exceptional ability; Mile. Elle Stuart, an expert aerialist; Wood and Sheppard, musicians, and others. On June 29 the current burlesque, "dam's Temptation," will be replaced by a new musical extravaganza, entitled "Ye Olden Times." Gus Bruno will supervise its production, and a number of new faces and plenty of gorgeous costumes and catchy music are promised.

Taylon's Theatrical Exchange is crowded from morning till night with theatrical managers and professional men, all lintent on arranging routes for stars and combinations. WORTH'S MUSEUM.—This house closed its season of 1890-91 June 20. It was the inaugural season, and was made remarkable by the difficulty experienced by Manager Worth in procuring a license for the place. Seven long months of worry and constant endeavor (enough to cause most men to give up in despair) were passed by Mr. Worth in obtaining what it is the best belief of every fair minded citizen of this city should have been granted to him upon first application. Manager Worth's belief in the ultimate success of this, his most important enterprise, never faitered, and when the place was finally opened it jumped into popularity at a bound. The success attained in a pecuniary sense is made doubly promitent by the respectability of the audiences which have gathered within its spacious walls. Nothing more complete as a museum exists today, while the stage performances have always been of the best class. It is a pleasure to record the complete success of Worth's Yew Museum.

MANAGER WALTER A. LIVERMORE and Proprietor D. B. Sweetser, of Sweetser's Opera House, Marion, Ind., are in town on a business and pleasure visit. Mr. Livermore made his debut in theatricals a decade ago, as Providence, R. I., correspondent of THE CLIPPER. He has for the past year or so been located at Marion, where his knowledge of the amusement business has helped materially to make Sweetser's Opera House a very profitable and discreetly managed theatre. His present visit to town is for the purpose of completing his bookings for 180-2, and he has siready made up a very attractive list. Mr. Livermore also manages opera houses is several cities within an easy radius of Marion, and will, about Sept. 15, open a brand new house at El-wood, Ind. For this event he is seeking a first class star or combination.

The change which was effected June 14 in the seats at the Broadway Theatie, completely transformed the interior of that spacious pisyhouse. It required the services of a number of workmen, and they began removing the upholistered chairs 13, immediately after the performance. In place of the heat generating velvet cushion ratian seats were substituted, and the heavy drapery of the private boxes was removed, and everywhere that upholstered work remained it was covered by linen cloths. The work of removing the upholistered seats and replacing them with ratian seats was under the supervision of C. B. Demarest & Co., the weil known firm of chair manufacturers. The new seats are of elegant design, and very comfortable.
The short time occupied by the firm in doing the work gives a faint idea of what they are capable

Tosy Pastron's Theatre.—This house now has the field in the Rialto district all to itself, and despite ambilious thermometers a good showing is made. Disput real,—The week ending June 20 was not unevential. The attractions offered were only fairly well paironized. A fire occurred at the Lyceum Opera House some time ago. It was due to a boy's carelessness, and only for the presence of mind of G. M. Herbert, Herman Waldo and Arthur Earle the house would have been burned to the ground the factor of the boy and the proper of the boy hered his lighter, still burning, close to the drop curtain, with the result that it immediately caught fire. The three genulemen named saw the flames, immediately jumped on the stage and pulled down the blazing curtain, burning their hands severely by the act. The firemen, who had by this time arrived, soon had the fire in the procenium arch out, but not before a hole five feet square had been burned in the centre of the arch. The damage amounted to $100. No insurance—as the local insurance companies reused to insure the building or its contents. Following the fire there saves a serious miscontinion the discharge of Sargent Aborn, the manager. After his departure it was hoped that the company would be able to pursue the even tenor of their way, but such was not the case. Mamie Taylor, the primadonna, who was to have played the principal role in 'Olivette,' took her departure for Burdalo, thus leaving the company in a position similar to a ship without a rudder. MURDER IN THE COOK TENT.

Probably Fatal Affray Between Employes of Sells Bros.' Show.

[Special Dispatch to the New York Clipper.] OMAHA, June 23.—William Saeger, a waiter with Sells Bros. Circus, and S. H. Goodman, a colored cook, had a fight here Sunday, while unloading. cook, had a fight here Sunday, while unloading. Goodman struck Saeger with an iron bound tenpin, crushing the skull. Saeger lives at Columbus, O. He was well liked by the management. John Allen, head waiter, is held as a witness. The employes have raised $175 for the care and burial of eger, who cannot live.

IF CARL ANTONY is not much deceived, New York

City is to have a permanent circus next Winter, modeled upon the plans of the Cirque d'Ete and the Nouveau Cirque of Paris. Many people know Mr. Antony as the proprietor of the Fifth Avenue Riding Academy, but few know him as a avenue kiding Academy, but few know him as a veteran trainer and circus man. There are a number of wealthy men in his town, however, who are willing to back Mr. Antony's judgment in circuses, and it is for that reason that the New York Circus Co. is being organized. Mr. Antony expects to sail for Paris in about two weeks, to engage a full fledged circus company for this city. Plans have been drawn for the new circus building, and it is probable that the Ehret piot at Eighth Avenue and Pifty-ninth Street will be the site selected. There are other men besides Mr. Antony who have been planning permanent circuses for New York, and, as Paris supports several entertainments of this kind, it is not improbable that Mr. Antony will find rivals in the field. Mr. Jurgens, of the Eden Musee, may be one of them. He has had plans and specifications prepared on a more expensive scale than that considered by Mr. Antony, and there are capitalists interested in it. However, Mr. Jurgens plans are as yet on paper, and Mr. Antony is the first to get to work in the field. Mr. Antony shows this list of men who are already interested in it. However, Mr. Jurgens plans are as yet on paper, and Mr. Antony is the first to get to work in the field. Mr. Antony shows this list of men who are already interested in it. However, Mr. Jurgens plans are as yet on paper, and it is a proposed to the applied to the purchase or lease of a suitable plot of ground, and to the erection of a circus building, for which the plans have been completed. The plans call for a building that will seat about 1,800 people. Mr. Antony brings his mathematics into play here and figures on an average attendance of 1,070 people at $1, and multiplying this by the 300 exhibition days that he expects to find in each year he has no difficulty in brings his water. His riding became the world, and the horse Adelaska that Antony trained for him was considered for a time the finest show horse in Europe. Antony found training horses for other people to exhibit tame work, and he s

NOTES FROM SELLS BROS.' SHOW .- A person who goes under the name of H. Sells, and claims to be an agent of Sells Bros.' Circus, has been defrauding the agent of Sells Bros.' Circus, has been defrauding the people of Wisconsin. At Boscobel he made contracts for "Sells' Nickel Plate Shows," and succeeded in borrowing money from several parties, giving orders on the "Sells' Nickel Plate Railroad Circus" in payment thereof. We wish through your columns to state that we have no interest in any show whatever except the one bearing our name (Sells Bros.'), nor do we know anything of such a person as H. Sells. The weather June 1-7 lujured business to some extent, but the past week, 8-13, business has been booming. Cyrene, the Spanish dancer, is unquestionately a great card, as is shown by the uproartious appliause that greets her at each performance. Our Moorish caravan, together with Hassan Ben All's Arabs, is a novelty to our Western friends, and their appreciation is shown by the liberal patronage we are daily receiving. Dan Lester, knock-about clown, joined at Plattsburg, Mo., 6. His grotesque antics and original sayings are a "go," and to say that he has "caught on" in good style but faintly expresses it. Col. Chas. Seeley, our popular press agent, was the guest of a coterie of old time friends at Muscatine, 8, who entertained him until the "wee sma" hours in a most royal manner.

GEO. Wilson, president of the Lafayette County Bank, Lexington, Mo., writes thus under date of June 16: "Some mouths ago the Geyer Brothers, of Lexington, Mo., informed those who had claims against a circus that broke up and was sold out near Concordia and Higginsville some years ago, should send them to Banker George Wilson at Lexington, Mo. As the matter is one that needs a lawyer to handle, I wish to advise all the claimants to send their names and amount of claims to William Aull, Prosecuting Attorney, Lexington, Mo. He is the attorney for my bank, and has our entire confidence. He and I have examined into the case, and feel confident that there is something in it for the claimants. Mr. Aull has a great deal to attend to and may be slow, but will succeed if any one can."

JUNGE BEACH, of the Supreme Court, has issued an attachment against the property in this State of Dan Rice in a suit by James Lynch to recover $22 for board and lodging. Mr. Lynch says that Mr. Rice, between May 20 and the present date, boarded and lodged at his place with twenty-five of his circus troupe. The bill was $28, but Mr. Rice has paid $200 of it. He had failed, however, to fulful his promises to pay the balance, and Mr. Lynch alleged that he is about to leave the State to defraud creditors.

DURING the afternoon performance at the side show, with Forepaugh's Circus, at Chicago, June 18, a 14ft. Python attacked Uno, the snake charmer, and fastened its hold on her left arm. The jaws of the reptile had to be pried open before her arm could be released. The wound was cauterized, and, unless blood poisoning sets in, the injury will not be serious. The tent was packed, and the excitement was intense. Four ladies fainted.

Fig. 1 And 18.—The rain interfered somewhat with out of door entertainments in this city last week, but it only needs pleasant evenings to draw out crowds. Unino's Cave Gauden.—This fashiomable resert was well patronized last week, and "Said Pasha" gave general satisfaction. "The Mikado" is being presented this week, and "Fra Diavolo" is underlined for next. Schwalben's Gardens.—Business was only fair last week as "Erminie" has become tedlous. "The Gondollers" is the attraction this week, and Trevette Maffitt has been engaged to take the part of Gluseppo Paimlert, one of the Gondollers, and Pattl Stone to take the part of Casilda. P. S. MATFOX, who is doing the press work and newspaper contracting far in advance of the Adam Forepaugh Shows, writes This CLIPPER, under date of June 18, from the far West, as follows: "The advent of the big Forepaugh Show in this far Western country is creating no end of excitement among the natives, and, although the Western tour is not really inaugurated till Angust, the inhabitants of every town and hamlet are making their preparations for the biggest circus day in this new territory. The tour of the Forepaugh Show to the Pacific Coast this year is being watched with much interest by the entire amusement world, as it will demonstrate whether a great big circus, with its enormous daily expenses, which are almost doubled west of the Rockies, can be made to pay in this Western country, with its limited population; but, from the interest being manifested by every man, woman and child, it is already apparent what the result will be, and many predict in these towns the largest receipts in the history of circuses. The entire Western press look upon the coming of the 'wast aggregation.' Never has the Western press been more enthused over any private enterprise. The country clear through to the coast has been lavishly blied for weeks. It might be in order to state here the enormous amount of billing being done by the Forepaugh management this year. At this writing the show is exhibiting at Chicago, and a continual line of posters announcing its coming is displayed from Chicago, north as far as Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, south as far as Springfield, Mo, and west as far as the Pacific Coast; and, as the billing is done equally strong along the line of railroad and the highway, there is actually at this moment a string of Forepaugh posters covering a distance of $,326 miles. Nearly every dead wall, fence and barn over the route is in skirmish car (No. 4), in charge of George Robbinson, and two special brigades under charge of Agents Barnum and Dale are doing some wonderful work of the store of the sone, Adam F

Notes from Sells Bros.' Shows.—O. M. Crosby, manager of the annex, was bitten by a rattlesnake at Ackley June 17. Prompt medical assistance saved his life. Business in lowa has been immense. The show leaves the State a big winner. Ephram Selis has returned to the show from his Columbus visit. Mrs. Henry Thorp, wife of the popular treasurer, is on a visit to the show. Since the distressing accident to "Doe" Crosby, Tom McIntire, equestrian manager, makes the announcements. He is a fluent speaker, and in his introduction of Cyrene astonishes his oldest acquaintances with brilliant flights in oratory. Opposition has dwindled into insignificance. The Selis Brothers are very popular throughout the extire Western country, particularly with the press. CLIPPER day is more important than salary day. The latter is bound to come on time, but will the Old Reliable get here on schedule time is the question that agitates the dressing room once a week. Temple," drew two immense crowds June 15... The
here this week, at the Exposition grounds.

EVALUSVILLE.—The Grand has closed for the eason, and, I believe, will not run a series of Sum mer operas as it did last year.... The matter of rebuilding the People's Theatre, destroyed by fire last Winter, is still under consideration, but as yet nothing has been done.... The Out O' Sight Musee is meeting with poor success and is now showing but three nights a week, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the last attraction being the New York Specialty Co... John Robinson's Circus exhibited here June 8 and was favored with fine weather and a good business. The pageent "Ring Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" was well received, the specialities and races were good and, as a whole, the show was up to the standard.

CHECKERS.

RESULTINE — Reed is quibbling on traveling expenses. He is willing to give Barker $00 outside of the stakes, or to allow him $75 out of stakes. Bro Dunlap, of $76 are to allow him $75 out of stakes. Bro Dunlap, of $76 are to allow him to anything different than the terms on which he challenged Mr. Wyllis for the world's title, and which was so accepted. We sincerely hope that Mr. Reed will allow Mr. Barker the $75 outside of the stake money for expenses, as we are sure to see high grade checker playing if so allowed. CHESS.

To Correspondents.

to. Gunsberg.—Accept our sincere condolence in r hour of great affliction.

To. Pollock.—Thank you for so kindly acceding to our request.

CHAR A. GILBERG.—And you, for the solution of No. 1,800. This version reached us from Mr. T. just at the very latest available moment.

"ALONZO."—Mr. G. asys he does not believe 1,800 can be made really perfect, short of such a radical overhauling as would revolutionize the present solution.

BRO. MINTZ.—Will you kindly give us a brief statement of the present condition of the testimonial fund for Mr. Steinits?

OHITUARY.—The great heart of the chess world, always quick to respond to appeals to its sympathy, will thrill with sorrow at the affliction which has overtaken the property of the street of the s RUNORS OF MATCHES grow apace. We see it asserted that S. Lipschutz stands ready to challenge the winner in Delmar-Pollock for a good stake; and that Mr. Kemeny, of the City Cliub, of whom we have before spoken, is to be pitted in the formal lists of a match with the nunquam non paratus champion of the Manbattan C. C., Major Hanham. We presume the rising young Russ, has never, hitherto, faced so severe a trial of his skill and tenacity as this match will be. We also understand that Max Judd answers Mr. Showaiter's application for a return match, that he will play him next December, or January, or sometime or words to that effect.....

There are, also, some rumors of team matches afoat, but we can fix none of them definitely enough to warrant occupying our space with them. Ament this branch of the subject. Hro funebore, in his most extained "chunks of solid trutts?" "There is an element in Hritish chess life which we are lacking in America, namely, the annual interclub matches. It is fully six years ago that the Manbattan Club and the Franklin Club, of Philadelphia, played a team match. A match between the former and the New Orleans C., C. and W. Club is spoken of at regular returning intervals, but never comes off. What we need is a good, hearty all Club is spoken of at regular returning intervals, but never comes off. What we need is a good, hearty all sround fight with Phillies and Bostonians, with Balti-more and St. Louis, with Western and Southern clubs."

THE PROBLEM which challenges the admiration of our readers this week was the best result of a rather remarkable combination of conditions. We avail ourselves of Bro. Seguin's translation. "A direct mate, three more problem. White with one B and two other pieces, with P's at will, Black, pieces and Pawns at will." (We, too, omit the stipulated key.) "The solution must embody not less than three variations, in the problem of the problem will the first move is not greatly difficult the variations that follow are all interesting and beautiful, and the problem merits, besides, great praise for their multiplicity and correctness." "2 A repetition of this problem was given the post of honor in Naova Nivisia for March-April, 1832, but with the error of making the Pawn at White Q's 3d White.

American Athletes in England.

The cable gives us the following information re-garding the doings of the members of the Manhat-tan Athletic Club now in England:

tan Athletic Club now in England:

LONDON, June 20, 1891.—An enormous crowd of people went to the Huddersheld Cricket Club grounds today to see the American team take part in the annual athletic festival beld there. Fully 17,000 paid their way through ten gates, and at least a thousand gained free admittance by scaling the fence. The regular track was in good order, but the sprint path was very bad, the cracks in the freshly sodded ground gaping very wide. This made the going slow, and, in addition to this, a strong wind blew diagonally across the track, impeding the light built men. The American contingent had not recovered from their sea voyage, but they made a good showing, although the handicapper asked some of them to do too much. He was very hard on Luther Cary, who would have had to beat all existing records to win the 120yds. race. Cary was in the first heat, and, starting from the scratch, won out the tape by six inches in a shade better than 12½s. Mortimer Remington, two years, the light of the starting from the crack won out the tape by six inches in a shade better than 12½s. Mortimer Remington, two years, the light of the starting from the crack. When the first heat, but he was not better third. G. Seal years, won the first heat in 12½s. In the final heat Cary could not get better than fourth. W. S. Patchett. Sayds, won the first heat in 12½s. In the final heat Cary could not get better than fourth. W. S. Patchett. Sayds, won the first and second, with six inches between second and third. Cary was only three inches behind third man.

A. B. George, Mahattan, scratch, and J. S. Roddy, 6yds, start, ran unplaced in the half mile race to J. W. The 129yds, and way from his field. D. Basan was second, a foot in front of Mortimer Remington.

The 120yds hurdle race was won by G. Shaw, New Zealand, 15yds, in 17½s.

A. B. George, 20yds, and Ceaser Young, 100yds, ran in the mile race. The latter kept the lead until the last 50yds, when H. W. Molvery, Salford Harriers, 6yds., came with a rush and beat him on the LONDON, June 20, 1891 .- An enormous crowd of

BASEBALL.

DIAMOND FIELD GOSSIP.

Latest Doings and Sayings of the Baseball Fraternity.

In giving his views of the different National championship, Manager Harry Wright, of the Philadelphia Club, is quoted as saying: "Our team is in fairly good shape. The only injured men are Clem-ents, who had a finger turned back, and Sam Thompson, who cut his finger in sliding to a base Otherwise the men are all in good shape. weakness, as is quite apparent, lies in the box. Gleason has not pitched up to his last year's form, weakness, as is quite apparent, lies in the box. Gleason has not pitched up to his last year's form, and Thornton, of whom we expected much, has not fully realized our expectations. He has done some good work, but his pitching has been uneven. Esper has been our main reliance, and he has done well. A great drawback to the team has been the absence of a regular first baseman. First one man and then another has covered the bag, and that has destroyed team work. However, I have my eye on some desirable men, and think we shall soon get into good fighting trim. I think it will be the closest and most brilliant battle in the history of the game. The majority of the teams are so evenly matched that I expect to see them finish in a bunch. The outlook for the national game is exceedingly bright, and I can see nothing but prosperity shead. In my opinion the chances have always favored the New Yorks. I cannot see how they can lose, unless something extraordinary and unforseen occurs. Where they overtop the other teams is in general all around strength. They have no special point lesides being heavy and steady hitters, they are also strong in every fielding position, and this is backed up by first class pitching talent and catching ability. It is a very hard thing to beat such a combination, and I do not see how it is to be done. When you are opposed to a team whose batters are liable to knock out home runs any minute, you never are safe, no matter how long a lead you may have gained. Then again, the New Yorks have played together so long and understand each other thoroughly. The Philadelphias will be heard from. I am not at all discouraged. Every club has its losing streak, and when we strike our gait again we shall make trouble. As to Chicago, I think the team has been playing faster than its strength warrants. The Washington Post says: "Fred Dunlap be-lieves he has just cause of complaint against the local management. When he received his check on the first of the month he also was notified that it was the last payment, as his saiary would be dis-continued from that date. He returned the notice and then received a notification that he was released out and out. As he was disabled while sliding to a base, he considers he should have been continued on the pay roll at half pay, or at least have been given a sum of money in lieu of this. He was in-jured in a similar manner while with the Detroits, and received his salary for the remainder of the season.

President O'Neill, of the Pittsburg Club, of the National League, received a telegram June 16, from President Hach, of the Minneapolis Club, of the Western Association, saying Shugert had not jumped to the Baitimore Club, of the American Association and was not for sale. O'Neill denied that he wanted the man for Pittsburg, but wired just to find out what the American Association agents were doing in the Northwest. The Pittsburg president also denies the story that the releases of Browning, Carroll and King are contemplated.

Judge Truax, in the Supreme Court, this city, on June 16 directed a verdict in favor of Mary G. Pinckney for $3,332 in her suit against John B. Day, as president of the New York Club. The suit was brought to recover for rent of the old Polo Grounds at 110th Street. The club used these grounds until the city pulld down the fence, in order to open 111th Street, between Fifth and Sixth Avenues. The loss of the fence made the grounds unavailable for the game of baseball, and the club refused to pay the rent, although the lease had not expired. It is possible that the club will bring a suit against the city.

N. E. Young, chairman of the National Board, has issued the following notice: "The National Board has decided that Meekin and Raymond, who jumped their contracts with Western Association clubs, are forever ineligible to play with or against any National Agreement club. This order, or any other that may hereafter be made for the same cause, will never be modified or revoked during the existence of the present Board, whose term of office will not expire for five years."

A dispatch from Pittsburg, dated June 19, says:
"There may be an American Association team in Pittsburg next season. E. A. Knox, George Rudolph, H. U. Lowe and another well known Pittsburger, claim to have secured a lease on the grounds adjoining the National League park, and are now corresponding with the officials of the American Association in regard to players. J. Earl Wagner has assured them by letter that they can have the club, but as Mr. Lowe safd today: "We are not going into it unless they give us the six players whom we have selected." The National League people declare they are not alarmed at the threat, and insist that the proposed club has no lease on the grounds in question, it being held by them. Despite Pitcher Stratton's statement that his arm was sound and that he could pitch ball next week, he was given his unconditional release today by the Pittsburg Club. It was alleged that the typhoid fever, from which he suffered in April, had settled in his shoulder, and he would not be effective for some time to come. Stratton will return to Louisville. He is the first of the reserve rule jumpers to be released."

In the sixth inning of the Minneapolis-St. Paul game June 16, at Minneapolis, McQuaid led off with a hard line drive between left and centre. Conley captured it just off the ground, after a hard run, but he couldn't regain his balance, and after staggering ahead about thirty feet, dropped the ball in the attempt to save himself from failing. It was perhaps as wonderful a catch as was ever made on the grounds, and even the Minneapolis aspectators groaned in excess of disappointment when the ball dropped. By rights it was an out, but Umpire Knight decided to hold strictly to the rules, and declared McQuaid safe, and he afterwards scored what proved to be the only and winning run.

The Baltimore Sun says: "Meekin and Raymond are the men who left the St. Paul and Lincoln Clubs, respectively, to Join the Louisvilles. Prasident Young has decided to establish a perpetual black list for players who jump the National Agreement contract, but by a singular inconsistency the same body retains and applauds those who jumped the American Association to enter the ranks of the National Agreement clubs. Mr. Young is preparing a circular of notification relating to the proposed list, which will be sent to every National Agreement player at fearful cost in the way of postage. He is the man who did the telegraphing which alarmed Shugert, Duke and the other players whom Baltimore wanted recently, and it was Macullar's mission to the Northwest which first convinced him that decisive measures were necessary. The National League is holding out to its dependent players the idea that if they jump to the American Association and prove failures their careers are at an end, as no minor jeague team under the National Agreement will again receive them. On the other hand, the men are enticed with the prospect of a hundred clubs instead of eight which will give them employment if they remain faithful alies of the great monopolistic baseball organization."

The New Haven team of the Eastern Association is baving a general shake up. President Munson has had enough and has resigned. Vice President Curtis will take charge. New York vs. Chicago.

New York vs. Chicago.

The Chicagos were shut out June 16, at the Polo Grounds, this city, the New York team then scoring their fourth consecutive victory of the series. Upward of three thousand people were in attendance, notwithstanding the very hot speil and the counter attraction of the Suburban. The visitors failed to make more than three scattering singles off Rusle, two of which were of the scratch order. The New Yorks led off with two runs, the result of wild pitching by Luby and a timely hit by O'Rourte. Luby was batted hard in the third inning, but five safe hits then yielded only two runs, poor coaching leading to two men being thrown out at the plate. A home run by Buckley in the sixth inning finished the run getting by the New Yorks. The Chicagos came nearest to scoring in the eighth inning, when a clever catch by Richardson left three men on the bases.

Brooklyn vs. Cincinnati.

The Brooklyn vs. Cincinnati.

The Brooklyns beat the Cincinnati, for the sixth time June 16, at Brooklyn, rain then limiting the contest to seven innings. Caruthers did good work except in the seventh inning, when a triple bagger by Reilly and a home run by Siattery earned two runs for the visitors. Kinnes was wiid and inneffective. Three singles and a base on balls gave the home team three runs and a winning lead in the second inning. A great running catch by Holliday was the fielding feature.

Boston vs. Brooklyn.

Boston vs. Brooklyn.

The Bostons beat the Brooklyns twice on Bunker Hill Day (June 17), at Boston, and thus secured second place in the championship race. In the morning game Nichols was batted freely, but the eight safe hits were scattered through six innings and yielded only three runs, two of which were scored on an error by Long. Lovett held the home team down to six safe hits, four of which, however, were bunched in the sixth inning, and sent in three runs. Errors by Ward and Collins helped the home team to their first three runs.

The Washington Club, of the American Association, has signed E. Dalley, who was released by Louisville. Dalley was an outfelder for Columbus and Brooklyn before going to Louisville, and is considered a good hitter. He says his pitching arm is well again. In the fifth inning of the Providence-Lebanon game, played June 17, at Providence, McCormack, of the latter team, made an intentional must of an inneld fly, when there were two men on the bases, and tried to make a triple play, but under the new instructions to umpires to prevent forced plays of this kind, the batsman was declared out and the runners held their bases. The Pittaburg Club gave Rellly a two weeks! leave of absence, June 18, to visit Mt. Clemens for his health. But when Miller was injured in the ninth inning of the Pittsburg-Cincinnati game the same day, this leave of absence was recalled, and messengers sent to stop Rellly. The management declare that Rellly must now remain at home and play, sick or well. The Electrics defeated the Lovells June 17, at Boston by a score of 4 to 1. New York vs. Philadelphia.

These clubs contended for the fifth time this season, June 19, at the Polo Grounds in this city, wet son, June 19, at the Poio Grounds in this city, wet weather having prevented any playing on the two preceding days. Whistler, who was substituted in Glasscock's absence, played poorly in the fourth inning, when his fumbing and wid throwing, together with four safe hits, helped the Philadelphias to seven unearned runs and the victory. The New Yorks batted Esper freely in three innings, when they bunched eight safe hits and scored four runs, three of which were earned. With the exception of the fourth inning, Keefe kept the hits well scattered. Richardson'scepted all of nine chances at short stop.

Brooklyn vs. New York. The fifth game of the series between these teams was played June 22, at Brooklyn, the home team then winning for the second time. Lovett pitched with wonderful effectiveness and shut out the New Yorks without the slightest semblance of a safe hit, a remarkable feat when the batting strength of his oppohents is taken into consideration. A low liner by Richardson that O'Brien captured was the nearest approach to a safe hit by the New Yorks. Lovett received perfect support, Daly's work behind the bat being especially worthy of mention. Ewing also did good work in the box, and the eight hits made off him were scattered through six innings, but clever sacrifice hitting helped the Brooklyns to four runs. O'Brien and Collins, who scored all the runs, did the best batting, each making a double barger. was played June 22, at Brooklyn, the home team

Pittsburg vs. Cincinnati.

These clubs played off a postponed game June 22, at Pittsburg, the home team then winning after an at Pittsburg, the home team then winning after an exciting finish. Mullane and King kept the hits well scattered, but the former was very wild, giving seven men bases on balls, and this proved very costly. Smith and McPhee by brilliant fielding saved several runs. Umpire Battin three times fined Latham for disputing his decisions. The visitors made a protonged "kick" in the eighth inning, when Holliday was plainly thrown out at the plate.

Philadelphia vs. Boston.

fifth game was played, June 22, at Philade phia, the Bostons then scoring their third victory of phia, the Bostons then scoring their third victory of the series. Both teams fielded sharply, the two errors made by the home team being excusable. Thornton weakened in the fourth and eighth innings, when his wild pitching placed four men upon bases, and as the Bostons bunched seven safe hits, the result was six runs, only one of which was carned. The Philadelphias could do nothing with Clarkson except in the eighth inning, when three hits gave them two runs and saved them from a shut cot.

An Exciting Struggle for the Lead. Which is Still Retained by the Bos-

Athletic vs. Boston. postponed game was played off June 16, at Phil adelphia, the Bostons then scoring their seventh adelphia, the Bostons then scoring their seventh victory of the series. Sanders made his first appearance with the Athletics, playing right field instead of pitcher, however, that position being filled by Chamberiain. Buffinton kept the hits wicely scattered, but a triple by Cross in the fourth inning, and a home run by Milligan in the eighth, helped the Athletics to four runs. The Bostons batted Chamberiain hard in the latter part of the contest, bunching ten safe hits and scoring twelve runs in three innings.

These clubs played two games June 17, at Boston, the Athletics then being credited with two victories. The home team started off with the lead in the morning game, but the Athletics pounded O'Brien hard in three innings, and secured an unexpected victory. Hallman a-'d Milligan led in batting, the latter driving the ball over the left field fence for a home run when two men were on bases. Joyce repeated this batting feat in the inith, the only inning that Weybing was hit hard. Brouthers did the best batting for the home team, his three hits including a triple bagger. McGeachy, recently released by the Athletics, made his first appearance with the Bostons in this game.

Rain stopped the afternoon game after seven innings had been completed. Sanders, who pitched for the first time this season, held the Bostons down to five safe hits. The Bostons carned one run on successive singles by Stricker and Radford, and the other was sent home by a double by Brown. The Athletics batted Buffinton out of the box in the third inning, when they scored six runs, Corcoran hitting for a home run, with two men on the bases. Daley pitched during the remainder of the contest, and held the Athletics down to one hit. Murphy gave way to John Irwin in the latter part of the game, Farrell then going behind the bat.

Louisville vs. Columbus.

The ninth game was played June 16, at Louisville the Columbus team then scoring their fifth victory of the series. Ehret pitched effectively, but received poor support, almost every error letting in a run. Knell kept the Louisvilles down to four scattering singles. A passed ball alone saved the home team from being shut out. Weaver was injured in the seventh inning, and Meckin took his place. Raymond's short stopping was the chief feature. Jennings put out no fewer than eighteen men at first base.

"Welch out for not touching first base. Earned run—Baltimore. Base on balls—Washington. 5 B. 1. Struck out—W., 3; B., 2 Unpure, kerins. Time. 2h. Heavy batting marked the game played June 17, when the Washingtons won for the second time this season. Van Haitren was batted out of the box in the first inning, when the Washingtons made cleven safe hits, including a home run by Hatfield and triple baggers by Alvord and Carsey, which, together with two bases on balls and three errors, yielded no fewer than fourteen runs. Cunningham pitched during the remainder of the contest, and the home team made only seven scattering hits off him. The Baitimores, who batted Carlesy out of the box in the fifth inning and also hit Foreman freely in the seventh, made a good uphil fight, but were unable to overcome their opponents' lead. Werden and Hatfield led in batting for their respective teams.

These teams met again June 19, at Baltimore, rain having postponed the game scheduled for the preceding day at Washington. The tail enders again won by superior playing, pushing the Baltimores back to third place in the pennant race. In the second inning, McMahon gave three men in succession bases on balls, two being sent home by a double bagger by Murphy, while three more runs were scored on successive errors by Gilbert and Van Haitren. This proved to be a winning lead, as the Baltimores, with the exception of the sixth inning, were unable to bat Foreman when hits were needed. Several splendid stops were made by Lohman at third base, and Werden captured a short foul fly, after a rapid run. Dalley, late of the Louisville Club, made his first appearance with the Washington team in the game.

Cincinnati vs. St. Louis.

These clubs contended June 16, at Cincinnati, the home team then scoring their fourth victory of the series. Wild pitching by Neal in the first two innings gave the Cincinnatis a lead, which they increased by hard hitting in the seventh and eighth innings, when they made five earned runs. Mains did good work in the box, McCarthy, who made a home run and two singles, alone seeming able to bat him. Neal gave way to McGill before the second inning was finished.

the home team then evening up the victories in the series. Gastright was in fine form, holding the St. Louis down to five safe hits, which, however, were bunched in the seventh and eight innings, and yielded three runs. The home team also failed to bat Griffith until the ninth inning, when they bunched four hits, including a double by McTamany, and tied the score. Gastright led off with a triple bagger in the last haif of the tenth, and, after one man was out, he scored the winning run on another safe hit by McTamany.

These clubs contended for the ninth time June 19, at Cincinnati, the home team then scoring their third victory of the series. The game was marked by hard hitting and loose fielding. Meekin was batted hard, especially in the fourth and eighth inn-ings, when the Cincinnatis scored no fewer than thirteen runs. Kelly and Carney led in batting, the former's five hits including a double. Crane was also batted freely, but he kept his hits well scattered except at the finish. Meekin and Donovan did the best batting for the visitors, the former making two triple bargers.

CRICKET NOTES.

There were nine games played June 20 at Philadelphia, while five more regularly scheduled contests were for various reasons postponed. The only contest for the local champlonship was between the Germantown and Philadelphia Clubs, the former winning by 11 to 48, the totals of the first inning. Bohlen and Ralston batted in fine form 10 38 to 31 respectively. G. S. Patterson captured six wickets of the Philadelphias at the cost of only thirteen runs. The Norristown Club defeated the Tacony team by 42 to 41, thanks to the bowling of Marsh, who took seven wickets, four clean bowled, for nineteen runs. The veterans of the Germantown and Philadelphia Clubs had a one sided contest. The Germantown team made 250; the chief contributors thereto being Van Renssalaer with 62 and Davis with 61, while the Philadelphias scored only 43. The Lincoln eleven in their first inning of the game with the Excelsior Club were dismissed for only 7 runs. Thorpe taking five wickets, three clean bowled, for one run. The Lincolns made 26 in their second inning. The Excelsiors scored only 46 runs, but this proved enough to win by an inning and 13 runs.

The Boston Athletic Club's eleven made a trip last out this proved enough to win by an inning and 13 runs.

The Boston Athletic Club's eleven made a trip last week, playing their first game June 17, at Fall River, Masss, where they defeated the local club by 46 to 24, the totals of the first inning. In the second inning the visitors made 188, of which Chambers scored 72 and button 49. The home team had lost eight wickets for 29 when time was called. George Wright bowled five wickets for twelve runs. The Boston team beat the New Jersey Athletic Club June 18, at Bergen Point, by 117 to 58, only one inning being played. Howard Mac Nutt, of the visiting eleven, was the highest scorer, with 35, and did the best bowling, taking four wickets for eleven runs. The next match was played June 19, in this city, when the visitors contended against the Berkeley Club. The Boston team put on 143 for the loss of five wickets, and then declared their inning closed. Mac Nutt batted spiendidly for 82 not out. The Berkeley team scored the meagre total of 48, although strengthened on this occasion by Cobb and other good batsmen. George Wright took five wickets for only eleven runs.

The Staten Island Club has at present the lead in the section of the Metropolitan Descript Leaves.

wickets for only eleven runs.

The Staten Island Club has at present the lead in its section of the Metropolitan District League, its third consecutive victory being scored June 20, when tis eleven scored 81 to the New Jersey's 61. Barton batted finely for 37 and Poole bowled well on behalf of the winners. Five more one inning games were played on the same day, the Patersons beating the Harlems by 109 to 37, thanks to Wild's well scored 50. The Fort Hamiltons defeated Kings County by 108 to 77, Noon scoring 32 and Roberts 29 for the winners. The Manhattans and Brooklyns are tied for first place in the other section of the League. Good batting by Bloxom and bowling by Cobb enabled the Manhattans to defeat the Cosmopolitans by 46 to 45, while the Brooklyns beat the Bedfords by 61 to 43. The Berkeley eleven defeated a short handed team of the New York Club by 155 to 17. The Rev. D. J. Evans batted brilliantly for 38 on behalf of the winners.

Elevens selected from the two leading social clubs of Philadelphia, played a one inning game, June 1s, in that city. Etting made 61 and Weish 38 of the total of 149 credited to the Philadelphia Club, while J. B. Thayer, with 30, and Biddle, with 30, not out, were the chief contributors to the Rittenhouse Club's total of 139.

Junior elevens of the Germantown and Belmont Clubs contended June 17, at Philadelphia, the former winning by 114 to 108, the totals of the first inning. Allen with 50 and Miller with 57 were the chief scorers for their respective teams.

The fifth match between representative elevens of Massachusetts and Rhode Island was played June 10, at Boston, the former scoring its fourth victory by an inning and 41 runs. The Massachusetts eleven scored 180 runs in their first inning, of which L. Mansfeld contributed 58 and carried his bat out. The Rhode Island scored 40 and 99. Mac Nutt bowled in his best style in the first inning of Rhode Island, getting seven wickets for fifteen runs. Bruce bowled six wickets for thirty runs in the second inning, when Captain George Wright tried some of his other bowlers.

Large scoring was the rule in a game played June 14, at San Francisco, the A'ameda Club then making 214 runs in an isning. Dennell made 80, and McLaren went in second and carried his bat out for 100. The opposing eleven, the Oaklands, mare only 19 and 62 in their two innings. On the same day the California Club defeated the Eurnaby eleven by 143 to 84. Webster went in first and carried his bat out for 70, never giving a chance.

Lord Sheffield has at last definitely decided to take a team of English cricketers to Australia at the close of this season. W. G. Grace, Lohmann, Attewell, Briggs and Peel, have been selected so far, Matches will be arranged against Victoria, New South Wales and South Australia, with three matches against All Australia, one each at Melbourne, Sydney and Adelaide.

The Melrose Club, of Philadelphia, visited Ealti-ney and Adelaide.

The Melrose Club, of Philadelphia, visited Baltimore June 20 and played the Baltimore Club. The visitors met with a defeat by 61 to 31, the totals of the first inning. The Melrose team made 75 runs in their second inning. T. Hargrave scored 19 and 26 for the visitors, and Mallinckrodt 22 for the home

RACING AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY.

Loantaka, an Outsider, Carries Off the Suburban Handicap.

It was estimated that over twenty-five thousand persons visited the track at Sheepshead Bay, L. I., on Tuesday afternoon, June 16, the opening day of the Spring meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club. The cause of the enormous attendance, of course, was the fact that the great Spring event the Suburban Handicap, was on the programme, and nobody with sporting blood in his or her veins who could get away cared to miss what they ex-pected to prove one of the finest contests ever wit-nessed for this fixture. The weather was intensely nessed for this facture. THE AMERICAN DERBY.

The greatest horse race that ever took place at Chicago was a keen disappointment to the hopes of thousands of Kentuckians and others who could see nothing but their pride, Kingman, in the race. The race was doubly disappointing, for the favorite was obliged to accept the third position in the contest. It is estimated that between 30,000 and 40,000 people were present. In the betting Strathmeath was favorite at 2 to 1, with Walcott & Campbell's pair 3 to 1, Kingman 4 to 1, Michael 6 to 1, Easton & was favorite at 2 to 1, with Walcott & Campbell's pair 3 to 1, Kingman 4 to 1, Michael 6 to 1, Easton & Larrable's entry 8 to 1, Forerunner 8 to 1, Ludowic and Vallera 10 to 1 each. There were three break-aways before the flag fell to a good start. Changes of position occurred at different parts of the race. Along the backstretch Covington eased Strathmeath, and at the mile he was in fourth position. Soon after passing this point, High Tariff stumbled and fell. Going around the stable turn Covington sent Strathmeath up to the front, and at the mile and a quarter he was leading, with Poet Scott second, Michael third and Kingman fourth. Coming into the stretch Strathmeath had a good lead, and it was all over now but the shouting. Covington was sitting perfectly still on Strathmeath while the others were riding vigorously. The Eastern crack had everything beaten and won easily by a length and a half, while Poet Scott beat Kingman two lengths for the place. The time, 2:49½, was slow, the track being heavy. High Tariff's fall was caused by heart disease. He died instantly, but Kiley, the lockey, escaped unhurt. The summary follows:

The American Derby, a wweepstakes for three pear olds (18%) at $250 each. $100 forfeit, or only $20 if declared before Feb. 1 or $40 April 1, 1891, with $10.000 added, the second to receive $2.000 and the third, $1.000 in 127 (Britton).

Thirteen yachts started in the New York Yacht Club's forty-sixth annual regatta, June 18, down the Bay. The stiff northeaster whitch set in the day before blew a perfect gale, kicking up a nasty sea outside the Hook. The Regatta Committee, made up of ex Commodore S. Nicholson Kane, Chair.nan W. E. They had to wait a few minutes for several of the yachts to get down to Buoy 11 from Bay Ridge, where they anchored for the previous night, but at 11 05 all the yachts were ready and the preparatory whistle was blown. Billy Woods, who is training with Hall, has accepted the offer made by the Twin City Club of a $3,000 purse for himself and Godfrey. Godfrey, strange to say, has not been heard from. Should the latter not accept at once, Mr. Davies will try and get a club purse for Woods and Kilrain. The "Parson" is also anxious to match charlie Kimmick, the 130th man whom Tommy Ryan declined to meet, against Dawson, the Australian welter weight. Jack Dempsey has expressed a willingness to second Hall against Pitzsimmons.

DEATHS IN THE PROFESSION

HENRY MILLER, once prominent in Philadelphia variety circles as a manager, died at his residence, 3,270 Sansom Street, that city, June 19, after a long illness. He was over seventy years old, and leaves a widow, six children and five grandchildren. He had been in retirement since about 1883. He was born at Lobenstein, principality of Thuringen, Germany, April 2, 1820, and came to this country, arriv ing in New York, July 1, 1845. He went directly to ing in New York, July 1, 1845. He went directly to Philadelphia, working a ferman prestaurant and saloon. Looking about, he found a location at 722 Vine Street, and opened the Winter Garden to the Other establishment of the kind from Vine Street to Girard Avenue, and from Seventi 10 Nine-teenth Streets. Ridge Avenue, which now contains so many similar places, was then little more than a country road, with a few frame houses scattered along on either side of it. That Mr. Miller's establishment was a decldedly primitive one will be no locks on any of the doors, and every night at closing up time two large bloodhounds were turned loose in the bar room as a protection against intruders. From the very start the enterprise was an immense success. Within six years he had made money enough to purchase the house and lot he occupied and another lot adjoining it on the east, to the west, on this very ground the first Miller's Winter Garden stood. About two years after opening Mr. Miller engaged a planist and violinist to play there every evening. To these musicians others were added from time to time, until at length he had an orchestra of eight pieces. After a time he engaged a German party of two her had not been successed as a continuous services and the result was that the place was crowded nightly. From time to time Mr. Miller improved the building, and in 1857 he erected one which formed part of the later Winter Garden. To this building he added others gradually, until he had onlit upon all his loss. These building were all colors a pleasure trip to his fatheriand. In 1800 he gave to Jacob Valer a lease of the ventury performance, after the building were all colors and produced the small fortune, he rented his piace and took a pleasure trip to his fatheriand. PLOTS OF THE NEWEST PLAYS. "The Way of the World" Successfully Produced at Chicago.

At Havlin's Theatre, Chicago, Ill., June 14, E. B. Tiiton's latest play, "The Way of the World," received its initial presentation. The story is that of a young girl who, in her infancy, was rescued from gypsies, becoming in time the pet and plague of the village, earning, by her pranks, the sobriquet of "Rex, the Tomboy." At the time we first meet her the village, earning, by her pranks, the sobriquet of "Rex, the Tomboy." At the time we first meet her she is in love with a wealthy young man only a few years older than herself, who, as a lad, had fancied and protected her, as well as taught her at odd times the little education she has acquired. Her affection is not reciprocated by the young gentieman, whose heart has been given to the daughter of a wealthy merchant. By a reverse of fortune, the young man's wealth takes wings, and with it the rich father's favor, and he refuses to sanction the marriage. After a violent dispute, the young man leaves the house forever. This quarrel is overheanl and enjoyed by the nephew of the elder gentleman, who sees an opportunity to turn it to good account, if he can but obtain forgiveness for signing his uncie's name to a check which has inadvertently fallen into that person's hands. The daughter, true to her lover, reproaches her father, and when she has left him alone, his love for her causes him to relent, and he resolves to make them happy. Refore he can carry this resolution into effect, he detects his nephew searching his papers for the forged check. He threatens to call the police. In the struggle that ensues for the check the old man is killed, but not before he has securely hidden the document. The hero, returning to obtain a keepsake which he has lost, is discovered by the side of the body and accused of the crime, the walf alone believing in his protestations of innocence. Circumstances are so strong against him that he is placed in Jail. Seeling no way to prove himself guiltiess he determines to escape and hunt down his persecutors. He is enabled to do this through the efforts of the little heroine and an Irishman's love for the bottle. The escape having been accomplished the work of hunting down the real murderer commences. By a skillful ruse he compels the nephew to give him the particulars of the crime, but is in turn locked with the waif in a deserted but which the nephew seeks to destroy by fire. By almos she is in love with a wealthy young man only a few

"The Ensign."

This naval comedy drama, in five acts, by William Haworth, was originally acted June 7 at the Grand Opera House, St. Paul. The story of the play is very simple. The scene in the first act is laid at the home of Capt. "His Nibs, the Baron."

This three act farce comedy, adapted from the Danish by Edwin Hoist and C. G. Leugers, was orig-inally acted at Portchester, N. Y., April 20. Baron inally acted at Portchester, N. Y., April 20. Baron Von Hoff, a wealthy German, forms the acquaintance of Blanche Benedict, an American opera singer, while she is touring Europe. She and the Baron become engaged, and, in order to be near his fancee, the Baron purchases a country house on the banks of the Hudson River, adjoining the grounds of the Benedicts, and sends his valet, Felix, to America, to prepare the house for occupancy, previous to his arrival. Felix is not conversant with the Baron's love affair, and, having his head turned by his momentary sway of authority, dresses in his master's clothes and informs the servants that he is the Baron. He makes violent love to a person whom he believes to be Blanche Benedict, but who, in reality, is Miss Benedict's maid, susie. She, discovering the supposed Baron to be a noodle, endeavors, for the position it would give her, to inveigle him into matrimony. Felix is assisted in his masquerade by Thomas, the Baron's gardener, and Susie enlists the services of Catherine, the Benedicts' cook. The day for the coming of the real Baron arrives. Thomas has elicited from Susie a promise to become his wife, and, in order to expedite matters and to prevent exposures, pretends to receive a letter from his father, saying, that unless he marries immediately a German lady of his selection, he will disinherit him. Felix informs his intended bride that he owns wast real estates in his own name, and in order to please his father, begs that the ceremony take place at once, to which Susie consents. The Baron arrives—and has the door of his own house shut in his face. Felix confesses his deception to the Baron, and informs him he is about to marry Bianche Benedict. This assertion is substantiated by Thomas, Miss Benedict comes by appointment to meet the Paron. Her letters are returned, and she is notified that the enzagement is off. Susie, who has also been masquerading, tells her mistress she is about to well the Baron. You Hoff, to revenge himself upon Miss Benedict, and the Baron n Von Hoff, a wealthy German, forms the acquaint-ance of Blanche Benedict, an American opera singer,

"During the Ball."

This one act sketch, said to be translated from the French by Alexandrina Ramsay, was originally acted at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, June 11, as a cur tain raiser for "Vittoria." Two sisters are banished from the wedding ballroom, because it is late and they are tired; so they talk over possible husbands and ceremonies, fill they break into a waltz, and the morning days s. he morning dawns.

BILLIARDS.

Frank Sherman, of Athens, Pa., is now superintendent of the Galaxy Billiard Room, Washington, D. C. Mr. Sherman recently defeated Charies H. Manning, of New York, for a money stake, the latter conceding odds of 300 to 250 at continuous pool. The score: Sherman, 250; Manning, 242. In the first five frames Sherman scored 74 balls out of 75, and gained a lead of 80 balls. Then Manning scored 80 balls out of risk frames, which placed him eleven balls in the lead on an even string. During the game the table was cleared of fifteen balls at a run no less than eleven times. Manning will probably not repeat his offer of 100 balls in 600 for $100 a side, which he made to Sherman recently.

Since the announcement in the Clipper that De Oro would return to Chicago in October next to take part in an eight ball, pyramid tournament, at $100 entrance, with added money by the B. B. C. Mathews' Colored Listener.

Charles Mathews was wont to take things as they came. "I have played to an andience of one," said he to a friend. "It was in the Sandwich Islands. I had advertised the play to commence at two o'clock. I had the scene set, and, as I made it a rule never to disappoint the public, I determined to go on with the show. I came on and bowed to a man of color who, in a white hat, was seated in the stalls. He returned my salute with becoming solemnity. I went through the entire first act of 'A Game of Speculation,' and that man of color never once, smiled; he never changed his position.

At one time I was nearly sending the promptor to feel him, to see if he were alive. I lowered the curtain on-the second act, and he was, like the House of Commons, 'still sitting.' I felt bound in honor to reward persistency of this kind, and I gave him the third act, gag and all. A quarter of an hour after, my colored friend was still in the same attitude: so I went round and told him the show was over. He shook hands with me and smiled, and asked me what it was all about."—Chambers's Journal.
